Family Mental Health Awareness:

Mental health awareness has never been more urgent. In a given year, estimates show one in four adults experience mental illness and approximately 20 percent of 13- to 18-year-olds. For 8- to 15-year-olds, the estimate is 13 percent. Sadly, many never get the help they need. Studies show 60 percent of adults, and almost half of 8-to 15-year-old children with a mental illness received no mental health services in the previous year. Many families simply do not recognize the signs or know where to turn to get help. So the problems go undetected and untreated, often leading to a lifetime of pain and suffering for the person struggling and everyone around them. This lack of awareness is heart wrenchingly evident in the fact that suicide is the tenth leading cause of death in the U.S. (more common than homicide) and the third leading cause of death for 15- to 24-year-olds. And, further that at least 90% of these young people have mental health problems such as depression, anxiety, drug or alcohol abuse or a behavior problem. The lack of awareness is literally killing us. But, with awareness, we have the power to change. Because realities change when cultures change and the reality with mental illness is that it's real, painful and, most of all, treatable. (Source: NAMI)

Change Your Hue of Blue:

At UMCH Family Services, we are on a mission to change the cultural attitude toward mental illness. To create widespread awareness that hope and help are available, we are hosting Change Your Hue of Blue. A Blues Music Benefit Concert Gala to change the cultural reality around mental illness by raising awareness of the issues and spreading the message that help is available regardless of income level. Our ultimate goal is to create in our own backyard a reality where we go from a lack of awareness about mental illness to widespread open dialogue; from families being weakened by underlying mental illness, to understanding there's effective mental health management.

Changing the current reality matters to us at UMCH Family Services because we deal with many families and children around Ohio who experience mental health issues. Families and children we work with to successfully treat. Who now have a better chance at a stronger, more secure familial structure and a brighter future, where the color blue no longer represents sadness but serenity and peace. We know firsthand how urgent and important this issue is. Through Change Your Hue of Blue, we are raising funds and funding awareness, help and hope. Tickets are available now at:

About UMCH Family Services:

UMCH Family Services, originally named United Methodist Children's Home, began as an orphanage more than a century ago. Throughout our history, we have delivered services to accommodate the changing needs of children and families. We have gone from being a children's home to children's homes — providing homes through our Treatment Foster Care Program, finding homes through our Adoption Program and strengthening homes through our Outpatient Family Mental Health Service Program. All of our programs are designed to holistically treat children as well as to support their caregivers. In addition, UMCH is the only agency in central Ohio providing the complete continuum of adoption care—offering pre and post adoption services for the whole family. UMCH Family Services is a ministry of The West Ohio Conference of The United Methodist Church. www.UMCHOhio.org

Change Your Hue of Blue is a Mike Berichon, Bear in the Chair production.
